British Plan to Abandon Rocket Sites

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Britain is abandoning her program to build fixed-site rockets capable of delivering nuclear weapons to an aggressor's soil.

Defense Minister Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons today the military is discontinuing development of the Blue Streak, a 2,500-mile-range missile, which so far has cost 182 million dollars. Watkinson said the money thus far invested in Blue Streak will not be wasted "if it is decided to go ahead with (it) as a launcher for a space satellite."

It thus appeared possible that Britain might still try to stay in the world space race.

Watkinson made clear that Britain's strategic bomber force will remain effective for several years as the vehicle for possible delivery of nuclear weapons.

The complete cost of the original missile program of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government would have been between $1,400,000,000 and $1,680,000,000, he said.

Authoritative sources said this country also hopes, wherever possible, to pool its research, development and productive resources with other North Atlantic Allied powers in manufacturing 2,500-mile-range rockets.

The main reasons are advanced by officials for the switch in defense policy:

"The costs of the missile program are simply beyond the nation's capacity."

The program had been largely based on the production of fixed-site rockets which have been outdated by scientific developments.

In particular, Britons consider that the Soviets recent firing of rockets into the Pacific exposed the vulnerability of fixed-site missile bases. The Soviets claimed to have hit less than 1½ miles from their target over a range of 6,500 nautical miles.

Beyond the mid-1960s, when manned bombers are likely to be outdated, any British nuclear weapons would have to be delivered in a major war only in vehicles bought from the United States or jointly produced with other Allies.

Macmillan is understood to have discussed with President Eisenhower recently prospects of buying new American H-weapon vehicles as they are delivered. The British for some time have been eyeing the submarine-borne Polaris and the airborne Skybolt, which still is in the blueprint stage.

Bitter Barbs Tossed at U. S. Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some bitter, Democratic barbs have come at the Eisenhower administration one after another.

"Frozen in the ice of its own indifference" was the description Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts tagged on the administration Tuesday.

The case of "this period of leadership lassitude" was the accusation made Tuesday night by Adlai Stevenson.

In the Illinois primary, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who stands largely on the administration record but did not campaign in the state, received a far smaller vote than President Eisenhower rolled up four years ago.

On the whole, Democrats outvoted Republicans in the light turnout. The Republicans nominated Gov. William G. Stratton for a third term. The Democrats named Otto Kerner to oppose him.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas was unopposed on the Democratic ballot for nomination to a third term. Incomplete returns gave him a larger complimentary vote than Nixon received.

On the Republican side, Samuel Wither of Chicago led five other candidates in the race for Senate nomination.

Stevenson, who has denied he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, acted very much like one as he addressed a crowd in the gymnasium of the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

"Too often our leadership has been hesitant and half-hearted, and has concealed from us the nature and dimensions of the crisis," he said.

Kennedy made his attack on the administration in a speech to the International Union of Operating Engineers in Miami.

The economy of the Soviet Union is expanding seven times as fast as that of the United States, he said, and the Eisenhower administration does nothing about it.

While the senator spoke in Florida, talk of a stop Kennedy drive in West Virginia continued. He opposes Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota in the Democratic primary there May 10.

In Washington, a spokesman for the United Mine Workers said the union officially will be neutral in the primary battle. But, he added, some of its leaders favor Humphrey.

The spokesman said John L. Lewis, president emeritus of the union, had informally suggested that he would like to see Kennedy stopped.

"If Mr. Kennedy should win in West Virginia," Humphrey said, at a news conference in Washington "he ought to be well on the way to tying up the nomination."

"If I do," he continued, "I think I will be on the way to winning considerably more support."

Nine out of every 10 forest fires in the U. S. are caused by negligence of men in taking proper safety precautions.

Bennett in Another Lick at Faubus

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett last night proposed a reduction in state auto license fees and slapped at Gov. Orval E. Faubus for "shameful disregard" of Democratic Party loyalty.

Bennett, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor against Faubus also called on Democrats to "reaffirm our faith and confidence" in the party.

He noted that candidates must sign a pledge to support other Democratic nominees, then said, "My opponent recently described this solemn pledge as 'just another piece of paper.' This exhibits a shameful disregard for a solemn promise."

He apparently referred to the write-in election of Rep. Dale Alford in 1958 over former Rep. Brooks Hays, the Democratic nominee. Faubus did not openly endorse Alford, but is generally believed to have given him at least tacit support.

State party rules were revised this year to permit Alford to seek re-election as a Democrat.

In a plea for national party loyalty, Bennett said that while some policies and platform provisions have been distasteful, "to literally pick up our marbles and walk out of the convention with no place to go would accomplish nothing."

Bennett said the first plank in his platform would be to cut license fees for private cars and trucks to $7 per tag. He said that could be done without limiting the state highway program or reducing turnbacks to cities and counties.

The attorney general also attacked the Faubus administration on other points, especially the state's economic situation. He said, "We must create an economic climate in Arkansas that will be inviting to industry" and pledged to work for the "peace and progress" he said industry is seeking.

Bennett also said, "If I am elected there will be no integration" in the foreseeable future.

Repeal of Act 10, the controversial teacher affidavit law of 1958, would be all right "if it could be proved that it is not effective," Bennett said in reply to a question. The law requires teachers to list organizations to which they have belonged or contributed during the past five years.

Maneuver Breaks Up Sitdowns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new maneuver—the ominous bomb threat—broke up a Negro sit-down demonstration against segregated lunch counters in a Nashville, Tenn., department store.

Police and firemen acting quickly Tuesday after receiving a telephone tip that a bomb was in the building, cleared customers and sit-downers from McLellan's, a variety store. No bomb was found.

The sit-down touched off scattered racial incidents which resulted in the arrest of two white persons and five Negroes.

Negro college students, for the second consecutive day, took seats at eating facilities at several department, drug and variety store lunch counters. None was served.

At McLellan's, hundreds of Easter shoppers jammed the area as the Negroes sat down. A taunting crowd of white persons forced them to move on but not before while youths grabbed anti-segregation signs and punched a Negro demonstrator. A group of 50 white youths beat a Negro who hurled a drink bottle into the crowd from a second-story window. Policemen dispersed the crowd.

In Little Rock, Ark., Negroes invaded eating facilities at two chain variety stores and two locally owned department stores. There were no disturbances and no arrests. Negro leaders in Miami threatened boycotts and picket lines unless lunch counters there are integrated by Monday. The mayor asked that the ultimatum be withdrawn.

Nunn, fighting extradition from Tennessee, also is charged in Pulaski, Pope, Boone and Grant Counties.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. C. B. O'Steen. Mrs. Samuel gave the devotion entitled "Facing the Cross." This was followed with prayer by Mrs. Burke.

Roll call was answered by each member giving the name of his favorite tree. For the program Mrs. Roy Burke told an Easter story and gave hints on making Easter arrangements for a church and growing bulbs and roses. She concluded by giving a demonstration of decorating for a children's Easter party with colored eggs, flowers and a candy tree.

Miss Little Clark won the prize in judging of the "April Showers" flower arrangements brought by members.

Shortcake and cold drinks were served to 13 members and three guests, Mrs. Thalia Samuel, Mrs. Molly Ellis and Master Dennis Burke.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Clifton Ellis, Mark and Ann Catherine of Manila are visiting Mrs. Leota Futrell until Easter.

Charge Filed After Two Cars Are Hit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A proposal to change the method of electing directors of the Missouri Pacific Railroad will be voted on for the fourth consecutive year at the annual stockholders meeting here May 10.

The proposal is that all 15 directors be elected for one-year terms.

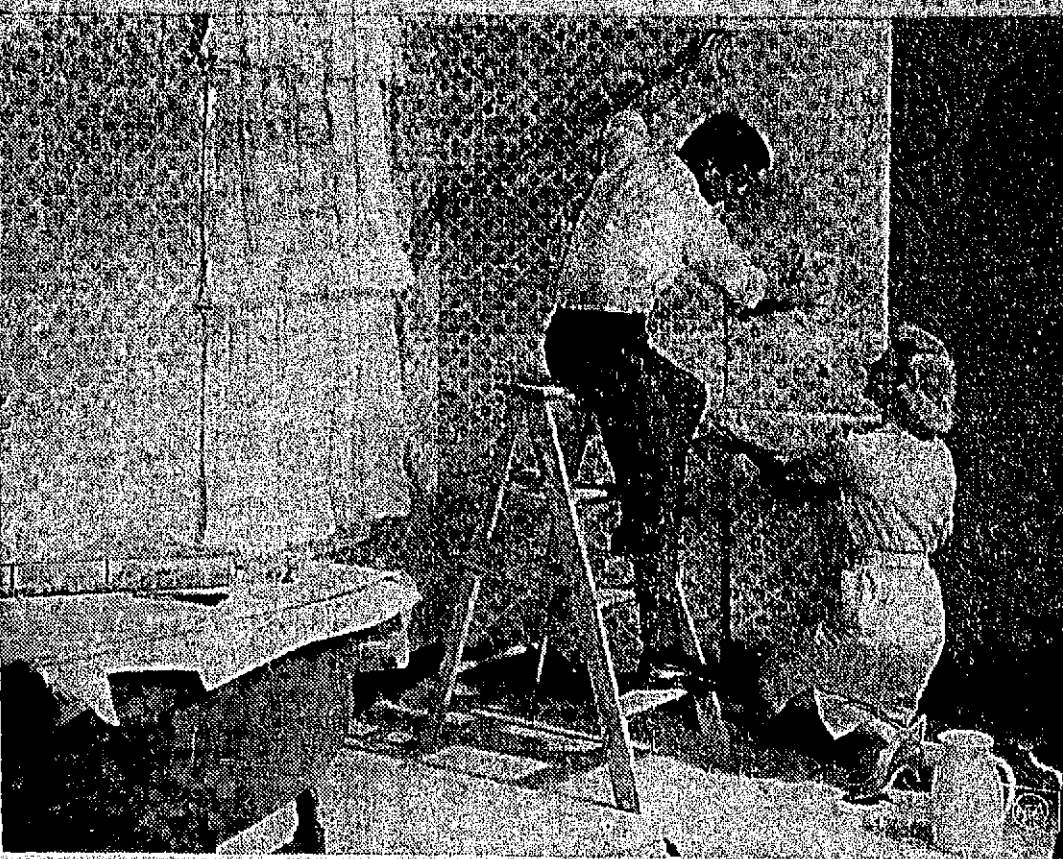

MoPac directors serve staggered three-year terms. Five are elected each year.

Management of the railroad opposes the proposal submitted again by stockholder Donald D. Wilson of Oak Park, Ill. he claims the present system encourages a self-perpetuating board.

Management claims the present system promotes continuity of sound and experienced management.

Yesterday the Mississippi River Fuel Corp. announced the purchase of 25,000 shares of class A common stock in the railroad, bringing its total MoPac holdings to 305,000 shares or 16.4 per cent of the voting stock.

William C. Marbury, chairman of the board of the pipeline firm, said MRF has been authorized by its directors to buy more shares when conditions are favorable. He denied that MRF is trying to gain control of the railroad. MRF has been buying MoPac stock since February 1959.

Young couples with long working hours and little leisure find teamwork the answer to faster spring decorating. Modern materials such as ready-pasted and trimmed wallpaper help, too. Room is kept orderly as decorating progresses; note curtain retainer on completed window wall.

DOROTHY DIX

Should Girl Leave Father at 18?

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am a girl of 17. My parents have remarried four different times. I lived with mother 16 years and father almost two years, on and off. They treat me as if I were still a child in diapers.

Father bought a house so I could move in with him. We had a few disagreements and I moved back with mother. Last month I took the matter to court and was put in father's custody. I also work for him.

When I am 18 I want to move in with a girl friend but continue to work for father. I am afraid he will be angry, fire me and take my car away. I love him very much but I can't put up with this in-between business all my life. What should I do?—C.V.

Dear C.V.: A nerve-racking existence such as yours has its compensations. For one thing, it's given you enough experience to see you through many a crisis.

Once you reach 18, tell your father you are going to live with a girl friend. Explain that your love for him has in no way lessened but you've reached the end of your rope. He may surprise you by his reasonableness. Whatever his reaction, your letter indicates that you have the intelligence and articulateness to meet the situation.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am 13 years old and my boy friend 16. My family and I like him real well. I've known him more than two months and have been going steady with him one month. I think that once in a while it's all right to give him a special good-night kiss. Do you?—Kay

Dear Kay: No. One kiss leads to another and — you're really in trouble! Ask your mother to get you a book all teen-agers who ask such a question should read, called "Sex and the Adolescent" by Maxine Davis.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I once wrote for advice. You gave a splendid answer. I turn to you again. My sister was born in New York of Italian parents. She is now in Milan. She must return to this country in six months or lose her citizenship.

Though her only dream is America, she is full of fears and reluctant to come. She prefers the West so our cousin in Los Angeles is giving her a room. A job as translator and interpreter could be hers in Arizona. She desperately needs the words of encouragement I no longer can find. Please help! — Mrs. L.L.

Drug Hearing Brings Flare of Tempers

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A row flared today between senators at a public hearing marked by testimony that some big medical societies are beholden and subservient to free-spending drug manufacturers.

The charge against the medical societies came from Dr. William Bean of the State University of Iowa Medical School staff, in testimony before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

Republican and Democratic members of the committee took turns leveling bitter charges at each other for nearly two hours before Bean testified.

The subcommittee is investigating alleged profiteering and monopolistic practices in the drug manufacturing industry, and has had many partisan rows.

possible your sister's return to the land she loves. In all fairness, she should not turn back at this late date. She can best show her gratitude by going confidently forward, serene in the knowledge that change is the law of life. To go forward is to progress. But, if she is to progress, she must rise above her fears. Otherwise they will mangle her. I give her Henry Thoreau's great words of ten quoted in this column: "There is nothing to fear but fear."

Wealthy Man Faces Prison Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John H. Hendrickson, 41, who in five years rose from a bankrupt plumber to a multimillionaire, has a 20-year prison stretch ahead of him.

He was sentenced Monday after being convicted of embezzling $371,410 from the Los Angeles National Bank.

U. S. attorneys say it's one of the biggest embezzlement cases in American history.

It came to light last May 2, when George Albert Hewlett, 40, an official of the bank, committed suicide. He left notes involving Hendrickson, prosperous owner of half a dozen heating companies and dealer in oil holdings.

The bank shortages subsequent ly uncovered had reached a total of $1,000,000 because of funds advanced to Hendrickson without authorization. The banker covered up the theft by writing Hendrickson checks, without sufficient funds in the bank.

Still a mystery, however, is why Hendrickson asked him. Prosecutors said the banker evidently never benefited financially.

In Hewlett's garage investigators found 83 checks ranging from $15,000 to $25,000 all payable to Hendrickson.

Hendrickson, whose home is in San Rafael, became acquainted with Hewlett when he installed a furnace in Hewlett's home.

New Hampshire was the first of the 13 original states to have a government "completely independent of Great Britain."

Flash floods cause from $200 million to 600 million dollars damage in the U. S. each year.

Insists New Baseball Loop to Open in '61

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Branch Rickey has reiterated that the Continental League, despite lack of support from organized baseball, will begin operations in 1961 at the latest.

The 79-year-old head of the would-be major circuit said he was more certain than ever that the Continental League would not only become a reality next year but will surpass the currently constituted majors in four years.

Rickey's optimism was voiced during a special ceremony in City Hall Tuesday when a model of the proposed stadium for the New York entry was unveiled to newsmen.

"Among those who gave the stadium his blessings was Mayor Robert F. Wagner who said the Board of Estimate will vote in favor of its construction at a meeting April 27."

Present plans call for a 55,000-seat stadium with movable seating for conversion to accommodate 60,000 for football. A proposed parking lot will accommodate 5,500 automobiles. The stadium also will feature two sections of rotating seats, the absence of pillars and columns or any other obstruction, escalators and continuous lighting.

The city will build the stadium and lease the structure to the baseball franchise owners. The venture, according to the mayor, will not cost the taxpayers a penny. It will be self-liquidating, on the basis of a 20-year bond issue. Rental would be $900,000 a year.

Jonesboro High Selects Coaches

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Two former college roommates have been selected to coach football at Jonesboro High School.

The school board announced today that Bill Davidson will take over as head coach and that Paul Stovall will be his assistant.

Davidson coached three years at Earl, where he chalked up a 23-6 record. His team ranked at the top in Class B football one year, and held second place for two years.

Stovall was head coach at Taylor, Mo., for two years, and for the past year has been head coach at Malden, Mo.

Davidson, a native of Manila, and Stovall, who was raised at Hughes, shared a room at Arkansas State College here in 1953-54.

The coaching shift was made because former head football coach Douglas Cobb has taken over as head basketball coach at Jonesboro High.

Ike Plans to Attend Ball Game Opener

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower arranged today to fly back to Washington Monday for the Washington Senators-Boston Red Sox baseball game and to attend the first ball to open the American League season.

Afterward, Eisenhower will return to Augusta for another two or three days of vacation and golf.

Before getting onto the Augusta National course today in temperatures pushing toward the low 80s, Eisenhower worked for a couple of hours in his office at the club.

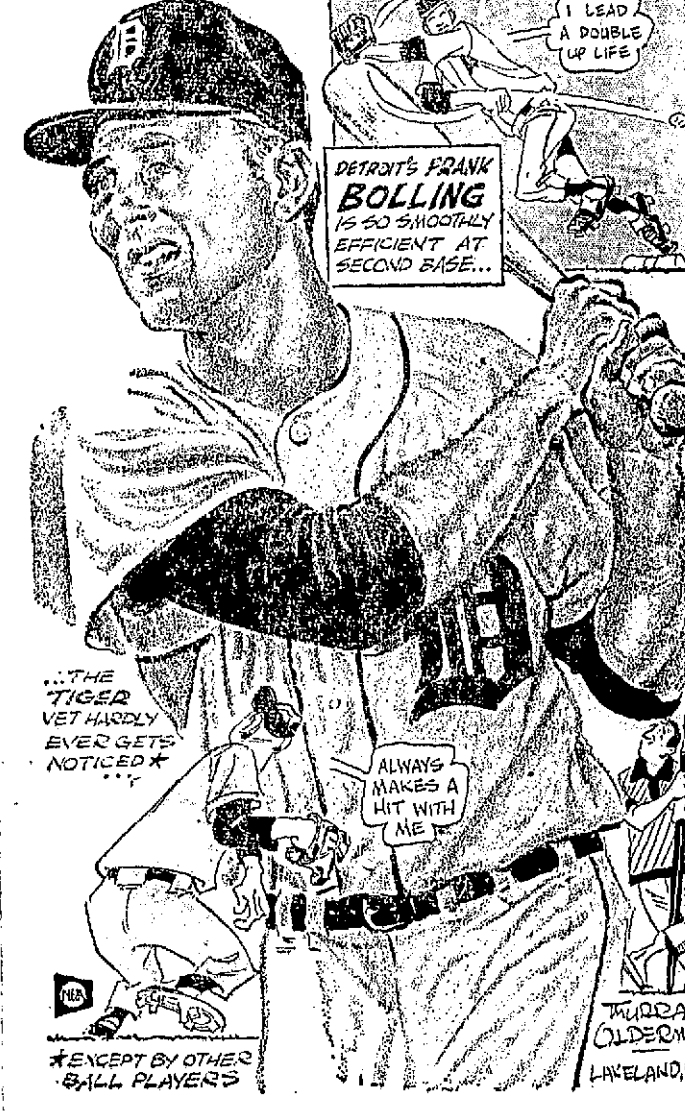

One presidential action was the signing of a $955,370,000 bill appropriating additional money for expenses of 10 or a dozen government agencies in the present fiscal year ending June 30.

The bulk of the cash, $675,000, is to restore the capital of the Commodity Credit Corporation, the agency with heavy investments in surplus farm products. The next largest item is 22 million for payments to school districts by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Woman Awarded $12,000 by Jury

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A U. S. District Court jury yesterday awarded Mrs. Willard Pitts of Hutchinson, Kan., $12,000 for injuries she suffered in a traffic accident between Conway and Little Rock on April 2, 1957.

The judgment was against T. J. Rapoport of Paulsboro, N.J. Mrs. Pitts and her husband were awarded $1,700 for medical expenses.

Mrs. Pitts testified she received neck and back injuries when Rapoport's pickup truck struck the rear of the Pitts automobile which had been stopped by a highway worker on U. S. Highway 65.

Study Acceptance of Industry

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Advisory Committee has set up a subcommittee to study the problem of hasty acceptance of industries by Arkansas communities.

The subcommittee will explore the possibility of setting up industrial advisory panels to aid communities, working with the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and other industrial development agencies.

The Industrial Committee, meeting here yesterday, said communities are so eager for industry that some of them act hastily and without proper caution.

E. L. Gallup of Blytheville, was named to head the subcommittee.

Wind to Play Part in New Giant Park

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Winds at Candlestick Park are going to be tough," declared San Francisco Giants Manager Bill Rigney, "but it's like the rain—there's nothing you can do about it."

After the Giants inaugurated the 15-million-dollar edifice with a 3-1 victory over St. Louis Tuesday, agreement was general that Candlestick will be great for pitchers and left-handed hitters.

"There's a lot of room out there," said winning pitcher Sam Jones, referring to the vast expanse of outfield. "That's good for the pitcher."

The footpuck man allowed only three Cardinal hits, one a 400-foot homer over the right field fence by left-handed swinger Leon Wagner, a Giant last year.

Rigney commented, "There's going to be some doubles and triples hit in the park. We're not going to play for so many big innings. With winds like that there will be a lot of low scores."

Orlando Cepeda knocked in all three San Francisco runs, with a first-inning triple to center and a third-inning single in the same direction.

In the eighth, the right-handed slugger put all the wood to the ball but Bill White hauled down the drive in deep center field that measures 420 feet to the fence.

"I can't hit a ball harder than that declared the 210-pound Puerto Rican.

Braves Elect Hard Way to Win Game

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves elected to do it the hard way — but are off and running in the National League pennant fight.

The Braves, dethroned after two straight championships in a playoff with Los Angeles last fall, called upon their pitching aces Tuesday to edge the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 before an opening day crowd of 39,888.

The old sidekicks, southpaw Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette, and relief artist Don McMahon had to team for the triumph decided by big Joe Adcock's two-run homer in the eighth inning.

"We played heads up ball and that's the way it's going to be all season," said Charlie Dressen after his debut as Milwaukee manager.

Spahn, the ageless veteran who will be 39 on April 23, hurled four-hit shutout ball for seven innings before weakening in the eighth when the Pirates put together a couple of doubles and a single for two runs to bring McMahon from the bullpen.

When McMahon surrendered a run on a pair of doubles and only one out in the ninth, slyly Lew was summoned. The 33-year-old righthander promptly got the next two batters on three pitches to preserve the triumph.

Adcock, who drove in the first run in the opening inning with a single and then had a hit in the sixth, picked out the first pitch from reliever Elroy Face and sent it soaring over the right field fence. Hank Aaron had opened the eighth by beating out a topped to third and taking an extra base on a throwing error.

"I was trying to go to right with a man on second," Adcock said. "It was luck. I hit a breaking pitch on the outside. I probably won't hit another out there all year."

Restores Traffic

Opening of Nat'l Loop Looks Like '59 Race

National League SPORTS
By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League is off on another pennant chase, but except for what happened to relief whiz Roy Face, you'd think it was still '59, what with Los Angeles, Milwaukee and San Francisco jammed together at the top.

The world champion Dodgers, drawing a record crowd at the Coliseum, defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 11 innings Tuesday night and kept the pace set by the Braves and Giants, who finished 2-3 last year, in afternoon games. The Braves clipped the Pittsburgh Pirates and Face 4-3. The Giants defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 for a dandy debut in their 15-million-dollar Candlestick Park.

In the other afternoon game, Cincinnati's Reds whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 9-4.

The four games drew 179,782 fans, an opening day record for the NL, which beat the American League, still playing exhibition games, to the punch by six days.

Chuck Essegian, a record maker with a pair of pinch-hit homers as the Dodgers beat the Chicago White Sox in the World Series, broke it up for Los Angeles with a two-out, pinch blast in the 11th off reliever Don Elston. He was batting for Don Drysdale, who blanked the Cubs on three singles over the last eight innings and got a jump toward another strikeout crown. He struck out 14.

The game drew 67,550, a NL record for a night game. The old high was 67,037, set at the Coliseum last August 8 for a game with the Braves.

Joe Adcock's two-run homer in the eighth broke up a 2-2 game for the Braves before 39,888 at Milwaukee's County Stadium. The shot followed a single by Hank Aaron and came off Face, the little righthander who ran up a two-season streak of 22 victories by winning his first 17 last season. Oddly, the Braves were the only club Face didn't beat in that streak, and the club that beat him last before he started the run. He

Promises to Mind Fish Deterioration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of Army Engineers, Lt. Gen. B. C. Itchner, has promised to hunt for a way to prevent deterioration of fish and wildlife in the Big Lake area of Mississippi County, Ark.

A group of Arkansians met with Itchner yesterday to discuss problems at 9,000-acre Big Lake, part of a national wildlife refuge.

Itchner was sympathetic. He said the Engineers would seek a satisfactory solution.

Residents say the Engineers' St. Francis Basin flood control project and the opening of drainage ditches in Missouri and northern Kansas caused sedimentation in the lake. They contend this damaged it as a habitat for fish and game birds.

The Engineers have rejected one remedy proposed by the Fish and Wildlife Service on grounds it would cost too much.

Those meeting with Itchner included: R. A. Nelson and Judge H. C. Partlow of Blytheville Mayor A. A. Tipton and Wayne McMillough of Manila; Mayor J. C. Baker and John E. Beardon of Leachville; Col. John E. Buxton of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission; and Rep. E. C. Gattings (D-Ark.).

About 800 to 1,000 active members are trading on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange daily.

NO ONE ELSE FOR HER—When Mom returns to school, no one else seems to be in the room for her daughter. Linda Anderson, 8, took part in a spelling contest, then returned to her seat with words for mother alone during a coffee hour at a Shaker Heights, Ohio, school.

BLAZE OF SUNLIGHT

Copyright © 1959 by Faith Baldwin Cuthrell. Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: In mid-January Rose and Mark Holmes will leave on a Caribbean tour. Mark's law partner, Pete Jackson, has been having trouble with his wife, Karen.

It was mid-January, the glitterling festivities of the incoming year over and Mark had the cruise tickets in the office safe.

In the study, Mark reading the paper, Rose said, "Mark—about Karen."

"What about her?"

"Christmas Eve, that's when I first noticed it."

"Noticed what?" He asked patiently.

"She was sort of talking at Pete. I never saw her do that before. You know how women talk at men? I didn't think much about it but when we saw them

New Years—"

Mark was silent, spilling the pocket change on his dresser.

"I don't think Karen's happy,"

Mark said.

He knew she wasn't. She had come to see him recently when Pete was out of town. A woman doesn't usually consult her husband's partner about her husband—not this kind of consulting anyway. She said she wanted a divorce, and had for some time.

Pete wouldn't hear of it; he argued that she had no reason and besides he couldn't afford a scandal; no professional man could. So she'd sat at Mark's desk, the door shut against intruders the tears running down her smooth face. She said finally that she was utterly wretched.

"I know you can't talk to him,"

she ended miserably, "can't take sides. But there must be someone you'd recommend."

"Dozens. Karen, is this as serious as it sounds? I know

Pete's away a lot and perhaps you haven't enough to do."

"If you mean, because we haven't children," she said angrily, "It isn't my fault. Pete never wanted children."

"I didn't mean that," Karen said. "I can't get all wound up in piddling village activities —

I'm sorry, Mark — maybe I'd better say I'm not like Rose because I'm not in love with my husband, nor he with me."

Before she left he hoped he had talked her into the old meaasures; think it over, try to make a go of it.

Now Rose said, "I don't suppose she is happy. You know, I never thought she was, not since we've known her. But I hated to see her look the way she did; I can't explain it—sort of strained and hungry. She's always been a little remote; but even when she says things I don't like, she has a certain dignity."

A few nights later Mark went to a Bar Association dinner in

New York. Pete had brought his car in and at the end of the evening would drop Dave off in Westchester and then take Mark home.

It was fairly late when they started back. It had snowed, although not much in the last day or so, and the highways were sanded because of previous rain and a freeze.

They returned to the parkway and rode in silence. Pete was a good driver, fast, but good. He was cautious now. He said,

"Lousy, treacherous weather. I only you and Rose your cruise."

"I'll need it by then," said

Mark sleepily.

"So Karen came to see you,"

Pete said.

"Yes." Mark's heart jumped, it was so unexpected. "She told you?"

"She did not. But you didn't think she could walk into the office and not have someone see

her?"

"Frankly, I didn't think anything about it. When she's near the office, she always stops to say hello."

"She said more than hello. You can't tell me she didn't have an appointment."

"She didn't. It was late afternoon. I was ready to start home.

Julie had already gone." Julie was Mark's secretary.

"Mollie hadn't," said Pete.

Mollie was his secretary. "She saw Karen. What did Karen say to you and what did you say to her?"

"I advised her," Mark answered evenly, "to talk with you,

—without a row —and to see her doctor."

"She's seen the analyst; she runs to the couch as some women to the bottle. I won't give her a divorce."

After a moment Mark asked,

"Why not? Evidently you aren't in love any more, either of you.

As for professional men having professional difficulties if they go through the divorce court, you know that's no longer true. And in this case, there'd be no scandal." He paused, waiting, but all

Pete said was, "I have my own reasons."

Mark thought: Then there would be a scandal? ... Another woman? One he doesn't want to marry? ... He's seen Pete with dozens at lunch, usually clients, the lot of them. But clients who are women are women as well as clients.

Another man? He did not believe it of Karen, yet thought of what Rose had said — "strained

Red China Grabs Mt. Everest

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign Editor

Red China put the land grab on

Mt. Everest the other day.

This latest was against the tiny kingly state of Nepal, wedged between India and Red China on the slopes of the Himalayas.

Mt. Everest and the Abominable Snowman said to wander its snowy heights have been Nepal's chief claim to fame. And since

Mt. Everest is known to every schoolboy, it served to dramatize

Red China's unceasing efforts to extend its frontiers at the expense of its neighbors.

Trouble Controlling Land.

To the north of Mt. Everest stretches Red China's "wild west"

—and the real reason for this discussion.

For while Red China moves in on thousands of square miles of territory on a border line extending from India's northwest territory to Burma, evidence continues to accumulate that she still has plenty of trouble controlling the land she already has.

Recently it was disclosed that what previously had been dismissed as a minor uprising in Tsinghai Province of northwest

China in late 1958 actually was of such massive proportions that the red Army had to be called in to put it down.

Is Sinkiang Uprising

Prior to that there had been the 1955 uprising in Sinkiang

Province, and, immediately after, the revolt in Tibet which reached its height in March, 1959.

Other outbreaks were reported in the province of Chinghai and in Mongolia.

Here are wild streams, arid lands lowering mountains and a people who never have bowed to the Chinese will.

In the region are more Tibetans than there are in Tibet, and more

Turkistani than there are Chinese.

As in Tibet, the Tsinghai rebel lion centered around the Buddhist monasteries.

Reports on Rebels

Kao Feng, first secretary of the

Tsinghai Communist Party

committee, reported to the rebels:

"Under the guise of protecting the interests of national religion, they occupied monasteries as bases of operation, attacked the people's government, murdered revolutionary cadres and activists, destroyed pastures and livestock, burned down dwelling houses."

Kao Feng concluded:

"The heroic fighting of the rebellion-suppressing units of the Chinese people's army...quelled

the revolt."

These are rugged individualists and hungry." Now it seemed pitiful.

"You keep out of this, Mark,"

Pete warned him.

Mark was slow to anger, but it stirred in him now. He said, still evenly, "I am keeping out of it.

Karen came to me as she would

to any good friend. I—"

There was a sickening swerve

as the wheels hit the hidden ice, and the car crashed across the dividing barrier into the other lane.

Mark had time to think. He thought: Rose.

Noise, a shattering confusion, unspeakable pain and darkness.

Adlai Dines in Home of Jefferson

By ART EDSON
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) —

Not in 130 years has the old house seen anything like this.

Here in Monticello, the beloved home of Thomas Jefferson, Adlai

Stevenson dined in high style Monday night. The last similar dinner according to the curator at Monticello, probably took place in 1824.

That was when Jefferson — old, fighting a losing battle, but still determined to preserve their right to decide.

(red and candle — held a dinner for General Lafayette on one of Jefferson's death in 1826 the house was sold and, while entertaining was done, it was on a much smaller scale.

For years now Monticello has been a national shrine, closed at 5 p.m.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956,

is here to make a Founder's Day speech tonight at the University of Virginia, set up according to the plans of Jefferson.

Monday night, Stevenson was
